WHAT DO EMPLOYERS WANT

Globally and locally, employers are now looking for professionally qualified individuals with attributes such as strong integrity, initiatives, skills and knowledge, excellent communication skills (verbal and written), team working skills, a commerce awareness of what is happening in the business world, numerical and analytical ability and skills, creative and innovative thinking, adaptability, reliability, discretion and strategic orientation and self motivation who are prepared to work effectively as part of the team to contribute fully to the teams goals and those of their employers. Perseverance, patience, organization and time management skills are also high necessities as well as ability to work with others and sense of humor.

WHAT PROFESSIONAL STUDIES WILL DO TO YOU

The programs of study, offered through the Centre for Professional Studies (CPS) division of the Centre for Training & Projects Development (Pty) Ltd are all internationally recognized professional courses that are set, reviewed, examined and/or assessed at international level by respective reputable internationally recognized professional institutions which, if passed, will sharpen your career path, empower you with vital real practical skills that are critical for your organization's attainment of goals as well as your own success. By the time you complete a second stage of any of these courses you will discover that you have automatically changed your conduct towards professionalism as well as being competitively positioned in employment and personal life arena. These courses will empower you with certain abilities that will survive you where others can't.

The choice of your professional institute should depend upon the area of your current and/or planned specialization depending on the objectives of your Personal Development Plan (PDP) and this could be the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA), the Chartered Institute Management Accountants (CIMA), the Chartered Financial Analyst Institute, the Association of Computer Professionals (ACP), the Confederation of Tourism, Hotel & Catering (CTHCM), the Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators (ICSA), The Chartered Institute of Purchasing and Supply (CIPS), The Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM), The London Chamber of Commerce and Industry (LCCI) and/or the Certified Accounting Technicians (CAT) or any of the internationally recognized professional bodies.

WHY CHOSE A PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATION

In most advanced and emerging economies after the university, many graduates who want to pursue a career in the market decide to gain a professional qualification. In Namibia, degree holders in Accounting and Finance from UNAM and Polytechnic of Namibia gain good credits both from ACCA and CIMA.

An increasing number of Master/PhD degree holders do also enter onto these programs to gain a professional qualification as well, because with a professional qualification it is easier to find a job in the market and pursue a successful professional career.

REAL BENEFITS OF PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

The professional qualifications are international certifications that you have been educated and trained as a top professional in your field and can professionally function at international level. Other advantages of these internationally recognized professional qualifications include:

- Practical exams (same worldwide)
- Practical knowledge (focus on application of knowledge & theories linked with experience)
- Worldwide prestigious qualifications (worldwide “seal” of approval/recognition)
- International mobility (international “passport”)
- Excellent career prospects (can reach top executive positions such as director or partner)
- Rewarding (salaries + fringe benefits)
- Holders of professional qualifications do not have the “saturation/ oversupply” problem faced by most academic degree holders all over the world
- Most multinational companies not ONLY employ individuals having professional qualifications but also encourage existing employees to pursue a professional qualification and cover the related training costs
- The demand for holders of professional qualifications is very strong and is expected to become stronger as globalization intensifies
- Excellent prospects for top career

The Centre for Professional Studies (CPS) provides tuition for internationally recognized professional courses to students from within the country and SADC member states as well as from all over the world. We are committed to developing the careers of those people who wish to become internationally professionally qualified in the areas of Accountancy, Auditing, Taxation, Financial Analysis, Tourism and Hospitality, General Management, Information Technology, Human Resource Management, Purchasing & Supply, Strategic Management, and Marketing.

All of our programs are international professional body accredited and our reputation for delivering quality programs is renowned. Our programs are taught by a team of highly experienced and professionally qualified tutors who will take great pride in supporting your needs during your time with us and in helping you in enhancing your employability skills and professional development.

WHO SAID GRADES 9, 10 AND/OR 12 DROP OUTS' CAREERS ARE DOOMED?

The Certified Accounting Technicians (CAT) and the London Chamber of Commerce and Industry (LCCI) provide a lasting unique career development opportunity for grade 9, 10 and 12 individuals with low points who could not enter onto any institutions of higher learning that require 25 points. With skills gained through the CAT and LCCI programmes, individuals emerge as highly competent Accounting Technicians, Assistant Accountants, Accountants and Assistant Managers, Marketing & Sales Executives, Executive Secretaries, Private Secretaries, Administrative Officers etc respectively and smoothly progress onto senior professional qualifications such as ACCA, CIMA, ICSA, CIM, CIPS, ACP, and CTHCM etc before gaining the chartered status.
